

The “Must List” for Visiting Detroit

Top Sightseeing Recommendations (in ranked order):

- 1) Visit Greenfield Village and the Henry Ford Museum (if you missed the opening reception) in Dearborn (about 12 miles east of Downtown) and take the Ford Rouge Factory Tour.
- 2) Explore Downtown, including the Detroit River Walk, the Guardian Building, and Greektown.
- 3) Visit the Cultural Center in Midtown (about 3 miles north of downtown), including a visit to the Detroit Institute of Arts (DIA) and the Motown Museum. Have a snack at the Avalon Bakery. (Note that the museums are closed Mondays and Tuesdays)
- 4) Visit Pewabic Pottery on Jefferson Avenue and take a scenic drive along the shores of Lake St. Claire northeast to the Edsel and Eleanor Ford House (Closed on Mondays). Do some high-end shopping at the Somerset Collection in Troy.
- 5) Drive up historic Woodward Avenue for 13 miles to the Detroit Zoo and do some shopping in downtown Royal Oak
- 6) Take a day trip to the rural German village of Frankenmuth, visit the World's Largest Christmas Store and Michigan's largest outlet mall

Top Restaurant Recommendations for Fine Dining (in ranked order):

- 1) Coach Insignia: located at the top of the Marriott (open after 5 PM)
- 2) Opus One: this is located just a few blocks from the hotel (open all week except lunch time on Monday)
- 3) The Whitney: located a few miles up Woodward Avenue near the Detroit Institute of Arts (DIA), (closed on Mondays).
- 4) The Rattlesnake Club: located a few miles up Jefferson Avenue on the Detroit River, (closed on Mondays).
- 5) Roast, located in the Book Cadillac Hotel near a People Mover Stop (open after 5 PM)

Top Restaurant Recommendations for Casual Dining (in ranked order):

- 1) Slow's BBQ: located a few miles a way in Corktown. Excellent BBQ.
- 2) Foran's Irish Pub / Grand Trunk: located on Woodward just a few blocks from the hotel. This Irish pub has great burgers and local beer.
- 3) The Pegasus Taverna and/or the New Parthenon: located in Greektown (just a few People Mover stops away). No trip to Detroit is complete without a meal in Greektown
- 4) Traffic Jam and Snug: brewpub located near the DIA.
- 5) Cliff Bell's: Jazz bar and restaurant near the Fox Theatre in the Grand Circus area (closed Mondays)

1. Visit Greenfield Village and Take the Ford Rouge Plant tour

For the 22nd NAM opening reception, you will be able to tour the world famous Henry Ford Museum. While you are sure to be impressed by the indoor portion of the museum, perhaps the most impressive portion of the Henry Ford is Greenfield Village, a 240-acre complex of over 100 historical buildings which were moved to the property from their original locations with the intent of capturing how Americans lived and worked over the last 300 years. Notable buildings include Thomas Edison's Menlo Park laboratory, the Wright brothers' bicycle shop, and Henry Ford's prototype garage. The Village is open seven days a week from 9:30 AM to 5 PM for an admission of $22. While visiting the Village, also make sure to take the Ford Rouge Factory Tour, which departs from the Henry Ford Museum. Tours cost $15 and run every 20 minutes from 9:20 AM to 3 PM Monday through Saturday.

The Henry Ford Museum is located in the city of Dearborn, which is famous for having the world's largest concentration of people of Middle East heritage outside of the Middle East itself. So, while you are there, make sure to take advantage of some of the best Middle Eastern food in the Midwest, such as Amani's Lebanese Restaurant at 13823 Michigan Avenue. If you are just in the mood for a burger, try Miller's Bar, voted the best hamburger in the Detroit area.

2. Explore the Renaissance Center and Downtown Detroit

The “RenCen” complex is home to the General Motors global headquarters and contains a wide variety of shopping, entertainment, and dining options, all under the same roof as the conference hotel. Unique souvenirs from your visit can be purchased at the Pure Detroit store located in Tower 400. Explore a collection of GM vehicles and specialty cars in the GM Showroom or catch a movie at the Ren Cen 4 Theatre. If you need to grab a quick lunch, head down to the food court on the lower level. If you are in the mood for a more formal meal, check out 42 degrees north adjacent to the hotel lobby or Andiamo in the GM Wintergarden. For a special treat after 5 PM, ride the glass elevator to the top of the hotel to the Coach Insignia and experience fine dining while enjoying a panoramic view of downtown Detroit, the Detroit River, and the city of Windsor, Ontario.

The Renaissance Center is also located directly on the Detroit Riverwalk, a 5.5 mile, 62 ft wide promenade located directly on the Detroit River. The Riverwalk is perfect for a morning jog or afternoon stroll. A separate lane is also available for skates or bicycles (which also can be rented at the Rivard Plaza, just a short walk upriver from the Renaissance Center). Other points of interest on the Riverwalk include the Cullen Family Carousel, Diamond Jack’s River Tours, and the Riverwalk Café (all located at the Rivard Plaza), the Milliken State Park and Harbor, the Dequindre Cut Greenway (another great place for a bike ride), and Chene Park. A little farther upriver on the Riverwalk is the Stroh River Place, which is home to another fine Detroit restaurant, the Rattlesnake Club (open Tuesday through Saturday). A few blocks away you will find an example of one of Michigan’s many microbreweries, the Atwater Block Brewery, which is open Wednesday through Saturday after 4 PM. Both locations are also easily accessible by car or taxi.

A few blocks away from the Renaissance Center are a few other notable points of interests that should not be missed. Hart Plaza, just a few hundred feet down river of the RenCen features several public works of art, including the famous “Fist of Joe Louis” sculpture located at the intersection of Jefferson and Woodward Ave. Just across Jefferson Ave is the Spirit of Detroit statue, an important symbol of community to the city. The Spirit has been known to don a Detroit Red Wings jersey if the team (who plays just a few thousand feet to the west at Joe Louis Arena) has a strong finish to their season.

Just a block north on Woodward is the Guardian Building, an Art Deco-inspired skyscraper, with a lavishly decorated lobby that cannot be missed. The Guardian Building also contains a branch of the Pure Detroit store where local souvenirs can be purchased. While you are in the area, cross back over to east side of Woodward and have an olive burger and a Michigan microbrew at Foran’s Grand Trunk Irish Pub (one of my personal favorites). For vegetarian and vegan fare before 3 PM, try Lunchtime Global, located just up Woodward in the First National Building. In the mood for a Detroit-style Coney Island hot dog? The best in town are located at Lafayette Coney Island, on Lafayette Blvd.

Many of Downtown Detroit’s other must-see points of interest can also be reached on foot, but the Detroit People Mover is often a much faster and more convenient option. The People Mover is a 2.9 mile elevator train loop with 13 stations serving Downtown Detroit. The People Mover currently runs in the clockwise direction and completes a full loop in approximately 13 minutes. Each ride on the People Mover costs 50 cents. One of the 13 People Mover Stations is conveniently located on the north side of the RenCen.

A 7 minute ride on the People Mover from the RenCen will bring you to the Grand Circus Park area of Downtown (about 11 blocks by foot). This area features Comerica Park (home of the Detroit Tigers) and Ford Field (home of the Detroit Lions). The Tigers are unfortunately out of town for much of the week, but do start a four-game series with the Seattle Mariners on Thursday, June 9th. The area also contains several entertainment venues including the Detroit Opera House, the Gem and Century Theatres, the Music Hall Center, the City Theatre, the Fillmore Detroit, and the historic Fox Theatre. The area also includes a wide array of places to eat, drink, and be merry. For sports fans, I recommend the Hockeytown Café or Cheli's Chili Bar. For cocktails lovers or beer connoisseurs, I recommend the jazz bar Cliff Bell's, the Park Bar and Bucharest Grill, and another one of Detroit's microbreweries, Detroit Beer Co. For fine dining, try the Angelina Italian Bistro or the DaEdoardo Foxtown Grille, located in the Fox Theatre Building. Please note, however, that many of the restaurants in the Grand Circus Park area are closed on Mondays.

From the Grand Circus Park area, an additional 3-minute ride on the People Mover will bring you to perhaps the most famous block in downtown Detroit: Greektown. For those who enjoy gambling, the Greektown Casino offers hours of entertainment. However, any visit to Detroit can't be complete without sampling an order of Saganaki at one of the many Greek restaurants on Monroe street. Pegasus Taverna and the New Parthenon are two of my favorites. Opa! While you are there, make sure to grab dessert or a snack at the Astoria Pastry Shop. Not in the mood for Greek food? Food with a Cajun flair can be found at Fishbone's. For fine dining, try Mosaic on the corner of Monroe and Brush. Once you are finished with your lunch or dinner in Greektown, the People Mover will return you to the RenCen in just 2-3 minutes.

In addition to the options listed above, several other fine dining options are available near the RenCen. Opus One is an excellent option located just two blocks north of the RenCen on Larned between Beaubien and St. Antoine. Another delicious option is Michael Symon's Roast, located in the Book Cadillac Detroit Hotel, just a block from the Michigan Avenue People Mover stop. The MGM Grand Casino also offers several excellent options such as Bourbon Steak, Saltwater, and the Wolfgang Puck Grille. The MGM Grand can best be accessed via a short taxi ride from the RenCen.

3. Visit Detroit's Cultural Center, Featuring the Detroit Institute of Arts

Following historic Woodward Avenue from the Renaissance Center to the north for 3 miles will bring you to the Midtown neighborhood of Detroit and the area known as the Cultural Center. The Cultural Center is home to several outstanding museums including the Detroit Historical Museum, Detroit Science Center (great for kids!), and the Museum of Contemporary Art Detroit (MOCAD). However, the crown jewel of the Cultural Center is the Detroit Institute of Arts (DIA). The DIA's collection is among the top six in the US and is best known for the Diego Rivera fresco cycle entitled "Detroit Industry." The DIA is closed on Monday and Tuesday, but open from 10 AM to 4 PM (or later) the rest of the week for an admission of $8.

Several lunch and dinner options are located 5-6 blocks south of the DIA. For a casual lunch, I recommend Union Street Saloon or the brewpub Traffic Jam & Snug (which also offers several vegetarian options). Another great option for Michigan Beer is across the street from Traffic Jam at Motor City Brewing Works. If you would like to try an example of some of the city's original French influences, try lunch at Good Girls Go to Paris Crepes, which also has several vegetarian options. Want an amazing afternoon snack? Check out my favorite bakery, Avalon, located on Willis. You won't be sorry! For fine dining in the area, try the Whitney or drive back down Woodward to the Atlas Global Bistro. Want more laid-back entertainment? How about bowling at America's oldest active bowling center, the Garden Bowl? Midtown is easily accessible from the RenCen via both taxi and rental car. Street parking and several surface lots are available near the DIA.

Continuing north on Woodward Avenue for about a mile from Midtown will bring you to an area of the city known as the New Center. This area is best known for the beautiful Fisher Building, an ornately designed Art Deco skyscraper and theatre. The third location of the Pure Detroit store is located inside the Fisher Building. Located about a mile west of the Fisher Building is the Motown Historical Museum, otherwise known as "Hitsville U.S.A.," the original home of legendary Motown Records. The museum is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10:00 to 6:00 PM for an admission of $10. While in the New Center area, an excellent fine dining option is Cuisine, near the Fisher Building

If you have a Smart Phone, navigate to <http://www.22nam.org/detroit.html>). Scroll down to the section entitled Midtown or the section entitled New Center. Click on the heading to access a Google Map which includes all of the destinations listed above. Enjoy!

4. Explore Jefferson Avenue (Belle Island, Pewabic Pottery, the Edsel and Elenor Ford House, and the Somerset Collection)

If you get an early start to the day, you will want to consider exploring beautiful Belle Isle State Park. From the Renaissance Center, turn right and follow Jefferson Avenue to the northeast for 2.2 miles to the McArthur Park Bridge, which will take you to Belle Isle, located in the middle of the Detroit River. It is home to the Anna Scripps Whitcomb Conservatory, the Detroit Yacht Club, the Detroit Boat Club, James Scott Memorial Fountain, the Dossin Great Lakes Museum, a Coast Guard station, and a municipal golf course. The city maintains a Nature Center where visitors are able to traverse wooded trails and view wildlife natural habitats. The island also includes a half-mile swimming beach.

Following Jefferson Avenue for an additional mile or so to the east will bring you to Pewabic Pottery, which has been producing handcrafted tiles and pottery in Detroit since 1903 (Open Monday to Friday 10AM to 4PM, free of charge, on the left side of the road). Many of the tiles decorating the Guardian Building and various People Mover Stations are Pewabic Tiles. Visit the tile showroom and select a truly unique Detroit souvenir (a limited number of which are also available at the Pure Detroit Stores). While you are there, take the free tour of the pottery museum and fabrication studio, all located inside the building, which is designated as a National Historic Landmark.

Follow Jefferson Ave an additional 5 miles or so and the road becomes Lake Shore Drive. An additional scenic 5 mile drive on the banks of Lake St. Clair will bring you to the Edsel and Eleanor Ford House (on the right side of the road), a mansion and estate built by the Ford family and inspired by cottages in the English countryside. Tours of the house, gardens, and grounds are available Tuesday to Saturday from 10 AM to 4 PM for $12. While visiting, enjoy lunch on the grounds at the Cotswold Café.

If you have extra time and are interesting in doing some shopping, you may want to consider exploring the Somerset Collection, located in Troy, MI. The Somerset Collection contains over 180 stores including Nordstrom's, Macy's, Neiman Marcus, Saks Fifth Avenue, Tiffany & Co., Louis Vuitton, Barneys Co-op, and Crate and Barrel spread over three stories of shopping bliss. From the Edsel and Eleanor Ford House, continue North (to the right) on Lake Shore Drive for about 1 mile until you come to East 9 Mile Rd. Turn left and continue for about 2 miles and then turn right to enter US I-94 North towards Port Huron. In 2 miles, Take exit 229 and merge onto I-696 West towards Lansing. In ten miles, take exit 18 and get on I-75 North towards Flint. After 7.5 miles, take exit 69 for Big Beaver Rd. Take at right at the exit ramp onto West Big Beaver Rd and in 1.5 miles, you will arrive at the Somerset Collection. To return to the Renaissance Center, go back to I-75 South and follow the highway for 18 miles. Merge onto I-375 South and follow it to the end, which is just a block away from the hotel.

5. Visit the Detroit Zoo and Do Some Shopping in Royal Oak

Interested in taking a walk on the wild side? Located thirteen miles north of Downtown, just north of I-696 is the Detroit Zoo (admission for adults is $12). The Zoo is currently home to almost 7,000 creatures and features the Arctic Ring of Life, North America's largest polar bear exhibit. Make sure to also check out the Australian Outback, Asian forest, American grasslands, and the African forest exhibits. You may even get a chance to feed the giraffes at the African grasslands exhibit or to feed the penguins at the Penguinarium. The Zoo can be easily accessed by taking I-75 North for 10 miles and then taking I-696 West for 1.5 miles. However, a more fun drive would be to take historic Woodward Ave, which directly connects the Zoo to downtown.

While in the area, make sure to explore the suburb of Royal Oak. Royal Oak has a unique business district that features an eclectic collection of vintage clothing shops, antique shops, galleries, and more. Many of these shops can be found on 4th St, Main St., and Washington. Royal Oak also has some of Detroit's best brewpubs including Bastone Brewery (famous for its Belgian style beers), Royal Oak Brewery, and Lily's Seafood Grill and Brewery. Have a preference for wine? Check out Vinoteca.

If you have a Smart Phone, navigate to <http://www.22nam.org/detroit.html>). Scroll down to the section entitled The Detroit Zoo. Click on the heading to access a Google Map which includes all of the destinations listed above. Enjoy!

6. Take a Day Trip to Frankenmuth, MI and shop at Birch Run

If you have time for a day trip and want to escape from the hustle and bustle of the city, consider a drive to the lovely rural village of Frankenmuth, Michigan's Little Bavaria, located 90 miles to the north of Downtown. Take a stroll or a horse-drawn carriage ride down the quaint village streets. Enjoy a family-style chicken dinner at Zehnder's. Find the perfect souvenir at one of the many unique shops. You can even try another local beer at the Frankenmuth Brewery. While in the area, make sure to stop at Bronner's Christmas Wonderland, the self proclaimed World's Largest Christmas Store, and browse through over 7 acres of Holiday merchandise. If you saved some additional space in your suitcase, stop by the Birch Run Premium Outlets (Michigan's largest outlet mall) and shop 'til you drop at the collection of 145 stores.
